Student chef heading to state competition

Glenbard North High School senior Jason Austermuehle will compete at the state Foodservice Competition at Kendall College on March 17th.

Jason has been involved in Family, Career and Community Leaders of America for four years. Jason, who is in the culinary program at the Technology Center of DuPage, plans to attend a culinary arts school to become a chef. Each year Jason has moved closer to reaching his goal. Last year he made it to state but did not advance to nationals. We are hoping this will be the year and he will make it to nationals in San Diego and receive a scholarship to pursue his culinary degree.
